PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The conference will provide the internist with a general review of all aspects and specialties in internal medicine. Medicine experts will provide comprehensive didactic sessions over a 5-day period on all general medicine and specialty subjects in internal medicine. During each lecture, a multiple choice question and answer session take place in an effort to simulate board examination. A live instantaneous audience response system will be used to collect and display participant answers to help facilitate areas for further discussion. There will be several special "High Yield" sessions which are geared to those sitting for the Internal Medicine Board Certification Examination as well as evidence based concepts that can be incorporated into the daily practice of medicine. The conference is designed to prepare the internist for the board examination, while simultaneously providing the practicing internist with an update and general review on the most current knowledge-base in internal medicine.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Internal Medicine physicians and physicians preparing for ABIM certification and recertification examinations.

OBJECTIVES

- Assemble knowledge and test-taking skills essential for successful ABIM certification and recertification
- Formulate a plan of study for areas that need improvement
- Review state of the art updates in the field of internal medicine
- Apply current concepts in internal medicine to problems faced in daily practice
